I am honored for having been a board member of the Chamber and within this one year of service, I have improved myself a lot and broadened my horizon.

I feel I could contribute significantly to our organization and therefore enrich our activities and events. Specifically, I am proud to have a full attendance score for our monthly board meetings. Additionally, I took part in two thirds of all events hosted in Chengdu by the Chamber, among those I was representing the Chamber together with our chairman during the China Position Paper launch and the Business Confidence Survey launch. I had the pleasure of organizing a logistics seminar in cooperation with DB Schenker and by introducing a high quality consulting company to the Chamber, I was involved in realizing several successful training seminars for our members. Also, whenever I can, I help to promote our events and give constructive feedback to raise their quality even further.

I'm very passionate about my role in the Chamber and want to keep on making valuable contributions in 2017. Last year, our chairman Mr. Robin Niethammer was the leading pen for the first edition of the Southwest China Position Paper. This year, he made the decision to let me continue his work and draft the second edition of Chengdu Paper. In this year's local position paper, I wish to include your input about challenges and opportunities of doing business in China and voice it on your behalf.

I think that I have demonstrated my competencies in the past year and would like to thank all of you for the support and hope that we all together will have an even better year ahead of us.
